Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 24 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry and bright today before rain arrives this evening.

Today:
Clear start to the day with plenty of sunshine at first. Cloud will steadily build but there will remain some bright or sunny spells throughout. A few showers may affect northern parts early afternoon. Breezy but mild in sheltered sunshine. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
Cloud will increase through the evening bringing outbreaks of rain and drizzle for a time. This will clear after midnight leaving a breezy and chilly night with some clear spells. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Thursday:
Dry and bright start, but cloud and rain will push in through the morning. Rain will mainly be across western hills with some brighter spells in the east. Rather windy. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Early rain on Friday clearing to leave a cold day with blustery, wintry showers. Drier and brighter on Saturday, then rain overnight before it turns drier on Sunday. Windy throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.